Turtle:

1. Put the ball onto a cocktail stick.
2. Put that end first into the egg carton, so his head sticks out, in the spot where the cardboard looks like a spike.
3. Paint the top half orange (or green or brown, whichever you prefer).
4. Using a darker browner orange, outline his shell pieces, they are hexagonal shapes. Go over this with an even darker and thinner line to define them.
5. Paint the bottom half green.
6. Paint his head green. Paint some darker speckles at the back of his head like real turtles have. I gave mine a sleepy face, where his face is like this UuU.
7. You're done!
